

Nairobi Work Programme (NWP) on Impacts, Vulnerability and Adaptation

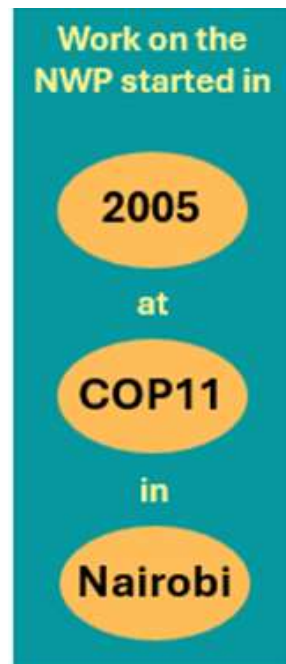

Background

The Nairobi Work Programme (NWP) on impacts, vulnerability, and adaptation serves as the UNFCCC's knowledge-to-action hub on adaptation and resilience. Its primary objectives are to assist all Parties, particularly developing countries, in improving their understanding and assessment of climate change impacts, vulnerability, and adaptation, and to facilitate informed decision-making on practical adaptation actions based on sound scientific, technical, and socio-economic information.

State of Play

At COP28 and SB60, the NWP focused on enhancing the integration of adaptation into sustainable development plans. Key activities included the 16th NWP Focal Point Forum, which addressed adaptation knowledge gaps in mountains, high-latitude areas, and the cryosphere, and the second technical meeting on the Lima Adaptation Knowledge Initiative in the Hindu-Kush Himalayan subregion. These efforts aimed to strengthen knowledge-sharing and support for adaptation actions in vulnerable regions.

Key Questions for COP29

Looking ahead to COP29, discussions under the NWP are expected to concentrate on monitoring, evaluation, and learning systems for adaptation and support, including transformational adaptation. Discussions will aim to enhance the effectiveness of adaptation strategies and ensure they are responsive to evolving climate challenges.
